NORTH CAROLINA LITERATURE.

BY REV. B. CRAVEN, D. D.

POEMS BY THEO. H. HILL.

We propose to discuss such native productions as we can find, not very elaborately, but frankly and pleasantly. Mr. Hill is a young man, talented, well connected, and has enjoyed every facility for thorough education, cultivated taste and a knowledge of the world in the highest and best sense. If he has any erroneous or perverted taste, either social or literary, any wrong habits, or any false connections of the beautiful, the good and the true, it must be the result of inveterate perversity, since no one has enjoyed more exquisitely refined associations and surroundings. Mr. Hill has published very little, and that little is even less known.—No effort has been made to bring him before the public, and he has none of the arts by which breezes are raised, and fame and fortune are made. He is modest, diffident, without energy, and hugely enjoys "otium cum dignitate," especially if accompanied by a good Havana and a talkative friend. He writes when the mood is upon him, begins his poems in the middle or elsewhere according to fancy, sometimes makes a poem without any subject at all, and not unfrequently has little poetic gems of the first water lying loose in the corners of his memory. Sometimes the afflatus comes upon him at church or in the market, and he makes and remembers a poem before the sermon is ended, or the meat for dinner is purchased. Socially, he is fine. In the parlor with a small number of friends, you see him in his true light, rich in thought, chaste in fancy, and genial as a June morning.

As a poet, it is difficult to determine precisely what he is; he has really never yet seriously gone to work. He has never tried what he could do; what he has produced was purely spontaneous. But, judging from that, we should think he was capable of first distinction; that he could achieve noble honor for himself, and do great service to the literature of his native State. In style he is select and clear, weighing his words with care, and over precise perhaps as to their meaning; somewhat circumscribed in his vocabulary; rather fond of certain classes of expression; he sometimes mounts his stilts and at rare intervals gets a fall. He might be more common without being vulgar, and more racy without being less elegant. In thought, he is neither objective nor subjective exclusively, but delights to dwell in a kind of shadowy dreamland, where the fancy sports without restraint from material realties, but gathers her material from things half perceptible to the senses. We have read no author who revels in such an interlacing and interweaving of thoughts and emotions, such replication, involution and vanishing shades of the actual, and such a mastery over the misty realm where the real is imperceptibly lost in the ideal. His tropes are rarely bold, but like the first tints of the morning or the distant notes of melodious song, they are perceived and fully enjoyed only by a delicate taste.

"Above me now the honeyed cells
Of pink and purple lilac bells
Pulse perfumes on the wandering breeze
And lured by these
The golden bees
Are come with hummings of the hive,
'Till every cluster is alive—
'Till all their bells together chime
With murmurs drowsier than my rhyme;—
More softly somnolent than those
That wooed from Hybla's beds of thyme
And clover gardens in their prime."

That the honey-cells should pulse perfumes, is a pretty thought; and not beyond the laws of vegetable physiology; then that the little flower-bells should chime sweet music to the poetic ear is a charming fancy. The whole extract is melodious and beautiful, softly wooing us away to aesthetic enjoyment. But against the line

"With murmurs drowsier than my rhyme,"

we enter our protest; it begins beautifully and ends abominably. But it reveals another characteristic of Mr. Hill. In satirical doggerel he is terrible; his arrows are worse than those shot by the god of the silver bow into the Grecian camp—they are not only sharp, but barbed.—From "Narcissus" we notice the following:

"Sadly sang the sorrow-laden,
Weary, wistful, wandering maiden—
Swiftly sped the sparkling river—
Sped the silvery Cephisus,
Drifting arrows from the quiver
Of the beautiful Narcissus—
Heedless of the tears he shed
At its far off fountain-head."

This is smoothe, harmonious and eminently suggestive. Yet we doubt whether the general reader would perceive the connection of ideas, specially

——"the arrows from the quiver
Of the beautiful Narcissus."

The next extract is a fair sample of Mr. Hill's involution of ideas, and "indefinite ideals."

"Ah! Narcissus, the transfusion—
Replication—involution
Of those false and real glances
Thy perplexity enhances;
Even had a chance beholder,
Peeping, unseen o'er thy shoulder,
There essayed the TRUE to sunder
From their SIMULACRA under
Water, flushing into wine
With each rosy blush of thine,
He had died in the endeavor,
An idolater forever!"

In this is exhibited one fault of not unfrequent occurrence in these poems, viz: ending a line with a preposition or some word either unimportant or intimately connected with the following line. "Under," in the eighth line, governs "water," in the ninth; and while the sense is clear, the melody is bad.

"Who may indicate the ending,
Or beginning of the blending.
Seven, several hues that shimmer,
In a rainbow growing dimmer!
Who unravel opalescence
In its very evanescence!
Who disport the tints that glimmer
In the faint illusion kindled
Ere a real splendor dwindled!
Still more futile his essay,
Who would vividly portray
Scarce perceptible decline,
Where the substance and the shade
Interfused—"TOGETHER FADE!"

These lines exhibit a refined, delicate perception as well as a genuine taste for those soft and gentle shadings and tints which are characteristic of high art, whether in poetry or painting.

The following from the "Pit and Pendulum," shows that Mr. Hill is capable of vigorous thought, intense emotion, and the genuine power of expression:

The poet say there is a golden chain
Binding our planet to the THRONE OF GOD,
Whose burnished links, unbroken, yet remain,
Though earth—no more by shining seraphs trod—
Is swinging madly o'er a dread abyss:
Should some malignant demon sunder this—
Should this frail chord of sympathy be riven,
And our lost world by gravitation driven,
Plunge through the outer dark imponifent, unshriven,
Who could in one wild syllable portray
The speechless horror of that dire ul day,
When light first wings its everlasting flight
And the lost plummet sounds the ghastly gloom of night?"

We come now to notice his book of poems published in 1861. Apart from intrinsic merit, the book was a failure. The time of publication was unpropitous; the world was thinking of wars and camp songs, and, in the midst of martial music, had no taste for the warblings of an aesthetic bard. Then the book was sent forth without the endorsement of established names, or any of the heralding known and successfully practiced by publishers generally; and, to complete the accumulation of evils, the material of the book was poor, and the mechanical execution still worse. The exterior of a book should artistically indicate the interior. It is not only proper that it should do so, but the world instinctively so judges; and a coarse unadorned book of poems deserves to fail.

"Hesper," is a very fine poem, breathing the pure air of Parnassus. It ends with the following stanza:

"Hence we revere the sage—the seer
Of every age and clime;
Whose priceless gems still sparkle here
Upon the strand of time"

"Anacreontic" is so characteristic that Mr. Hill should not only be ashamed but afraid to indulge such thoughts.

"Love Among the Flowers" is lovely as a May morning; it resembles the "Sabbath of the Spring," and is slightly marred by some conceits of fancy that are unworthy the general thought:

"The tinkling bells of sylvan streams,
Which wind around his cool retreat,
Chime to the music of his dreams;
For sheltered from the glowing heat,
Their laughing, sparkling waters meet
To ripple at his rosy feet."

In the "Clouds with Silver Linings," our poet again indulges his peculiar proclivity to bring jest. Thus:

"So dark the cloud that hovers
In my sky to night,
I cannot think it covers
A single gleam of light:
Now prove your aphorism,
If such, indeed, it be,
Dispel my scepticism.
Or prate no more to me:
To drive away each shade of doubt,
PRAY, TURN THE DARK CLOUD INSIDE OUT!"

"Dum Vivimus Vivamus" is a well written poem of its kind, but it et id omne genus ought never to appear in North Carolina literature.—It is neither characteristic of our life nor of good life in any other latitude.

"Despair" shows more passion than any other, perhaps, in the collection, but we dislike its tone, and do not believe it is congenial to Mr. Hill himself. Despair has no right to an altar in our land. None should ever feel

"I have nought to hope or dread;
All save sentience is dead;
Peace with innocence has fled."

The "Song of the Butterfly" is one of the finest poems of its kind in English literature; easy in its measure, liquid and melodious in language, with a wooing fancifulness irresistibly winning us to times and scenes when

"Mays are what May-days used to be."
"Life is but a summer day,
Gliding languidly away:
Winter comes, alas! too soon—
Would it were forever June!
Yet, though brief my flight may be,
Fun and frolic still for me!"

The "Star above the Manger" we like better than anything Mr. Hill has written. The poem is a treasure. It has, in our estimation, every poetic qualification, and, like Gray's Elegy, ought to immortalise its author. We give two unconnected stanzas as samples:

"Far in the dusky orient,
A star unknown in story
Arose to flood the firmament,
With more than mortal glory."

"Age after age may roll away,
But on Time's rapid river
The light of its celestial ray
Shall never cease to quiver."

"Taking a Snooze" has the best adaptation of sound to sense of any poem with which we are acquainted:

"Now floating afar, now hovering near,
Dull to the eye and dumb to the ear,
Grow the shapes that I see, the sounds that I hear;
Every murmur around dies into my dream.
Save only the song of a sylvan stream,
Whose burthen, set to a somnolent tune,
Has lulled the whispering leaves of June."

We do not think we have presented the worst or the best of Mr. Hill's poems, but rather a fair average. As yet he has written but few poems that will live for coming generations, or that ought to be enrolled in the pages of standard literature; three or four poems only are worthy to be classed with the best in the language. Most of his efforts have partaken of his moods, have been a mere passing fancy, and have neither had sufficient design nor labor to make them great. He is capable of the truly great, yet, if he continue to sport like a mere butterfly, he will accomplish but little. He is a fair representative and interpreter of certain phases of our life; he appreciates and can express some distinctive characteristics of our scenery. Except in the extreme west, we have little that is sublime, none that is insipid; but there is in our horizons, our deep shades, our wooded and lonely ravines, along our streams and in our pine forests, something different from that of any other land. Mr. Hill has certainly perceived it and felt its charm. Then there is a specialty in our sun-sets, our moonlight nights and the distant murmur of our brooks, that runs like golden threads through the woof of all our author's thinking. All Mr. Hill's inspiration is indigenous; good, bad or indifferent, it is to the manor born. If he sometimes sings in the strains of other poets, he emphatically sings with a North Carolina tone. He can do something worthy of himself and his countrymen. Will he do it?

WARRANTED GENUINE.

BEING MADE OF THE BEST MATERIAL AND in the most approved manner, it is recommended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise, and those engaged in its manufacture will continue their best endeavors to advance the high reputation which it has acquired.

We guarantee the Phosphate to be well manufactured, and recommend it in preference to any other artificial manure in the market. We consider it nearly equal to the best Peruvian Guano, although furnished at half the price.

Messrs. B. H. Allen & Co., the well known manufacturers of agricultural implements, say of it:

"We take pleasure in stating that we have sold E. F. Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime for four years.—It has given universal satisfaction to our customers. We most cheerfully endorse it as an article worthy of the confidence of the public, and the purchaser may rely upon securing an article honestly and carefully manufactured.

"We would state that, after careful examination, we believe this Phosphate has been improved each year since its introduction in this market, and that it will continue to maintain its present high standing. "Very respectfully,

PROSPECTUS
COSMOPOLITE.

ON THE FIRST OF JANUARY WE WILL commence the publication, in the City of Baltimore, of a monthly

Literary Magazine.

There is no publication of this character now issued South of New York City, and the closing of the war has left a large portion of the people of the country with no literary representative.

The COSMOPOLITE will be devoted to Literature, Art, Reviews, Scientific Papers and General Reading, and we shall number among its contributors some of the first literary men of the South, with others from the North and from London and Paris.

All matter not original will be carefully selected from the newest and best of the English, French and German publications; and its Editors will spare no effort or expense to make it rank with the VERY FIRST magazines of the country.

As its name imports, we have established the COSMOPOLITE upon no sectional basis. We hope to make it the organ of general literature alone; and will be uninfluenced by any party or clique whatever.

It will be mailed to subscribers in any part of the country upon receipt of the following

Subscription:

Single Copies, for one year,	$4 00
Five Copies for one year,	18 00
Ten copies for one year,	35 00

☞ Liberal deductions will be made to booksellers and newsdealers.

THE DAILY SENTINEL

WM. E. PELL,
SEATON GALES, } Editors.

Wednesday, March 7, 1866.

OUR TERMS.

THE SENTINEL is issued every morning (Sunday excepted) at the following rates:

For Daily, per year,	$10 00
" six months,	5 00
" one month	1 00
" two months	2 00
Semi-Weekly per year,	5 00
Weekly per year,	3 00

Our terms are invariably in advance. The Weekly and Semi-weekly will be issued about the first of January. Money may be sent us by the Rail Road conductors or the Express Companies.

The Land Loan Company.

We very much fear, that so much of the time of the Legislature has been consumed in the ordinary business of legislation, that in the hot haste of the members now to go home, they will leave before they have accomplished what is absolutely necessary, for the relief of the people.

The people of North Carolina need a currency. If they cannot obtain money or its representative, every species of enterprise must decline and die We are not only without money but without credit.

All the impediments to credit and enterprise must be removed—all obstacles in the way of agriculture, commerce, manufacturing and mining, must be taken out of the way. When this is done, and the credit and honor of the State and people are restored, there will be no difficulty in obtaining capital. Our lands and real estate form the best basis to credit, which a people can have. Remove the impression which has been created, that our State and people are becoming slow and indifferent to meet our obligations, and the way for the introduction of capital is open to us.

1. We doubt if a better proposition can be made for the introduction of capital, than the formation of the Land Loan Company. It is a proposition in which every landholder and real estate owner in the State can be interested.—There are millions of real estate unencumbered, which yield at present but little profit. Let every one interested in the success of this project, subscribe all or any portion of his unencumbered real estate, to be fairly valued, and convey it by mortgage to the Land Loan Company, pledged for the debts of the Company to its full value, till the charter expires and the business of the Company is settled up.

2. Let the subscriber receive a certificate to the amount of stock subscribed and mortgaged. The owner to retain possession of his property, with the right to improve it and enjoy its profits. This only to be sold as stock if the owner desires to change his investment.

3. Let the State subscribe its stock in the N. C. Rail Road Company, but only to own one-fourth or one third of the stock in the Land Loan Company, and likewise to retain the possession and management of the Road, &c.

4. Upon the credit of this Land and Rail Road stock, borrow $5,000,000 of gold or its equivalent, at 7 per cent. for twenty or thirty years. With this gold buy government 6 per cent. stocks to be employed in a National Bank and branches. The Bank to loan, buy exchange &c., as other National Banks, &c.

5. We can conceive of nothing safer for all parties. The ordinary profits of such a Bank, besides the 6 per cent. drawn from the government bonds, cannot be less than 8 per cent.—Three per cent. on such a capital would pay all expenses and liabilities. Therefore out of the profits might be placed in the sinking fund three per cent., and two per cent. on the $5,000,000 paid to the stockholders as a premium for their risk. The great benefits of the enterprise, however, would be in the increase of currency and the facilities for enterprise.

CONSISTENCY.—The Senate of the N. C. Legislature has passed a bill on its second reading, abolishing the office of Superintendent of Common Schools, on the alleged ground that the State is not able to pay money for such a purpose at this time; and yet this very same Senate has already passed a bill appropriating $7,000 to the College at Chapel Hill! "Comment is unnecessary."—Charlotte Democrat.

The Legislature we think did right in relieving the University, but it ought to do all in its power for keeping up the Common School system and aiding as far as possible every school and college. Our University, Colleges, Academies and Common Schools before the war, were the pride and glory of the State. The success of the Common School system, had given an impetus to education generally, putting North Carolina in advance of every other Southern State in educational facilities, and these were exerting a powerful influence upon the enterprise and energy of our people in all other respects. Emigration from the State had nearly ceased. Large numbers of students from other States were filling our schools. Now, when the State needs recuperation, to cease at once to do anything for schools, is evidently starting at the wrong end, and throwing the State back to her former Rip Van Winkle state.

We have heard it said that it is likely Gen. Alfred Dockery will run against Mr. Worth for Governor at the election in August next. That would be "diamond cut diamond."—Charlotte Democrat.

Jonathan Worth is a diamond of the first water, that cannot be cut by a diamond. If our friend of the Democrat does not like either diamond, let him bring out a double rectified one. Gen. Dockery and other Governor-makers have been cogitating lately, but we don't know when the committee will rise and report progress.

New Speaker.

After the second ballot last night, Mr. Perebe withdrew his name, and Mr. Shober was nominated. On the third ballot Mr. Winstead was elected.

FALSE REPORTS.—Since the President vetoed the Freedmen's Bureau Bill, it is said that Gen. Howard at Washington has received numerous reports from various quarters of the Southern States, detailing outrages on the freedmen and acts of opposition to the Government. We venture to say that not one in ten of these reports have the slighest foundation in fact. They are manufactured by mean, spiteful men for the purpose of injuring the Southern people and to make the Northern people believe that President Johnson did wrong in vetoing the Bureau Bill.

The freedmen to-day are receiving far better treatment from the citizens of the South than they would if they were living in the midst of the Northern people. And if the Freedmen's Bureau was withdrawn from the South altogether, the negroes would get more work and receive more favors than they now do. It is a wilful falsehood to say that the Southern people are disposed to oppress and ill-treat the negro.

It is hard, indeed, that the Southern people, in addition to the loss of a vast amount of property, should have to quietly submit to wilful misrepresentation and abuse.—Charlotte Democrat.

So far as our information extends, it fully sustains the above statements. The frequent flings made by our city cotemporary, the Progress, at the white people in this State and in the South, charging them with a disposition to treat the colored people unjustly and cruelly, are contradicted by nearly all persons of reliability with whom we meet. We venture the assertion, that every respectable colored person in this city who conducts himself or herself properly towards white people, will bear the same testimony.

We deny that there is a disposition to oppress or mistreat our colored population. The very reverse is the truth. Where the blacks manifest a disposition to do right and properly estimate their freedom, by pursuing an industrious, frugal and genteel deportment, the disposition every where is to assist and encourage them. Those who will not understand the object of their freedom, and who misconstrue the designs of the Freedmen's Bureau, are frequently so insulting in their demeanor and make such claims upon the whites, that they cannot submit quietly to it. In such cases collisions may occur. But these are exceptions which seldom take place.

The Speakership.

Hon. Thos. Settle resigned his Speakership on yesterday, because of his election as Solicitor in the fifth Judicial Circuit, took his seat among the members and joined in the voting for a new Speaker.

The precedent set by the Speaker is liable to serious objection, and as it may form a precedent in future, it appears to us the principle should be settled.

It is understood that the Speaker accepts the office of Solicitor, to which he has been elected, and its duties commenced on Monday last. He is understood to be the Solicitor of that District and his commission should have dated from that time. The Judge of the Circuit appoints some one, what?—Solicitor of the Circuit? We judge not. But he appoints some one to represent Solicitor Settle in his absence. Mr. Settle, therefore, is either the Solicitor or the office is vacant. If the office be vacant, the Legislature should proceed at once to fill it. If the office be not vacant, then Mr. Settle's seat is vacated and he of course has no right to vote.

We simply look at the legality of the case.—We will not allow ourself to investigate the propriety or the motives of his course—to inquire into the reasons which have influenced him. These may be called up, when it becomes necessary to examine the record of the late Speaker.

"The President's plan of restoration must be carried out in good faith before we can hope to be admitted to Congress, and before it will be safe to remove all the troops."—Raleigh Standard.

We copy the above from the Standard of yesterday, from the midst of one of the most bitter, disloyal and anti-Union articles we have glanced at for a time. If the Standard or its editor is a test of loyalty, of devotion to the government; if it be a representative of President Johnson's administration, then we have totally misinterpreted the President. The President breathes the spirit of kindness and good will to the people of the South—the Standard is cruel, suspicious and vindictive—the President and the people want peace and quiet, the Standard wants war and blood—the President is willing to trust the people—the Standard trusts nobody that don't trust W. W. Holden.

The bitterness and choler of the article are remarkable. It reminds one of the age of the Dantons and Robespieres. What's the matter? Who's been hurting the editor? There's a screw loose somewhere. Even our light-hearted, thoughtless girls don't escape. They are warned and threatened Well, the day has gone by neighbor, for you to scare people by your hectoring and demagogury. Better get cool and keep cool.

Talk about carrying out President Johnson's plan? What is the Standard doing to carry out that plan, when it is opposing privately the adoption of the Freedmen's Code? What is it doing to sustain the credit of the State? It would not rest till the State debt was repudiated. Will it go for still further repudiation?

Capt. Benj. Robinson announces that the Daily News would be suspended on Monday last, and will be succeeded by a Weekly. The daily has been a spirited paper.

MR. RAYNER.—This gentleman has returned from the North, having asked leave of absence from the Legislature. He of course, sees but little hope for the South. Things yet look gloomy.

Captions of the Laws.

We will prepare Captions of the Laws and have them ready for members of the Legislature at an early day. Those who desire them will please inform us at once of the number.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The Revenue bill being the unfinished business, was resumed. Various amendments were proposed, but the bill in its main features was preserved as it came from the House. It passed its second reading.

The hour of adjournment having arrived, the Senate adjourned.

SENATE.

TUESDAY morning March 6.

The Senate was called to order at 10 o'clock, A. M.

Mr. Howard introduced a bill to amend chap. 40 of the Revised Code entitled draining, damming and low lands, on his motion the rules were suspended and the bill passed its third reading.

Mr. Jones of Wake, introduced a resolution in favor of W. Thompson. Referred to the Committee on Claims.

A message from the House transmitting the following bills:

Bill to extend the time for collecting taxes under the Revenue Ordinance of the Convention; bill to authorize the chairman of the county court of Alamance to sell real estate; bill to amend an act concerning the Justices of the Peace in the county of Bladen; bill to incorporate the North Carolina Mining Company; bill for the relief of the owners of lands and houses; bill to amend chapter 79, of the revised code, entitled salaries and fees; bill for the relief of Robt. Christy, and others; bill to amend chapter 75, of the revised code, entitled Notaries.

On motion of Mr. Howard, the rules were suspended and the bill passed its third reading.

On motion of Mr. McLean the rules were suspended and the bill relative to removing dams in the Cape Fear river was taken up, and discussed at some length. On motion of Mr. Arendell it was indefinitely prostponed.

On motion of Mr. Wilson the bill establishing the rate of interest was taken up, and on motion of Mr. Cowles was laid on the table.

The bill for the relief of the people, authorizing the Banks of the State to subscribe for stock in the National Banks, came up, and was rejected by a vote of 21 to 16.

Bill to authorize the formation of an English and American Vine and Wool Manufacturing and Agricultural Association, in the United States, came up, and was indefinitely postponed.

A message from the House transmitting the following bills, viz: Bill relating to debts contracted during the war. Bill to amend the charter of the Williamston and Tarboro Rail Road Company; Bill to regulate the sale of spiritous liquors in the town of Salem. Bill to authorize the public Treasurer to make special deposits.

At 12 o'clock, Mr. Speaker Settle addressed the Senate as follows:

SENATORS:—The Constitution of the State provides that in case of the death, absence from the State or inability of the Governor to discharge the duties of the Chief Magistrate of the State, they shall devolve upon the Speaker of the Senate for the time being.

The General Assembly has elected me a solicitor for the 4th Judicial circuit. The acceptance of this latter office will vacate the Speakership of the Senate.

I desire therefore, in order to provide against any possible contingency of an interregnum in the Executive office, to resign the position of Speaker of the Senate, before the close of the session, which is now near at hand, in order that you may fiill it again.

In severing this connection, allow me to say that we have been called upon to conduct the legislative department of the State, at a time of unusual embarrassment.

We found our dear old State almost ruined, I may say utterly prostrated, by the ravages of a long, fierce and bloody war. It required a long time and great violence to produce this prostration, and it was not to be expected that we could at once, as if by magic, infuse new life, health and vigor into her frame, and send her forth as prosperous and happy as she once was.

We may not now, have done all that it was in our power to do for the relief of the people, and we may have committed mistakes, but let it be remembered, that we have been beset by difficulties, such as never surrounded any of our predecessors. Let us then go on, and here and elsewhere do our full duty. Let us inculcate, cultivate and cherish national ideas and sentiments as broad as the continent.

Let us all gather around the alter of patriotism, and sacrifice upon it all sectional parties and ideas, and there unite our efforts and our prayers for the restoration of North Carolina to her former proud position, as a member of the great American Union of States. Until that is accomplished, we can do but little to relieve the distress of a generous, manly, brave, poor but honest people. Then let us relax no effort to attain this end, but work on and do what is right under all circumstances, and trust all to him who tempers the winds to the shorn lamb.

Our association here has been of the most pleasant character. Kindness and courtesy have always characterised our deliberations. I do not remember a single unpleasant occurrence during the present session.

And, while I have but unperfectly performed the duties assigned to me, they have been rendered pleasant by your indulgence and assistance. I do not exaggerate when I say, that I have not witnessed a breach of propriety by any Senator during the session. I shall ever fondly cherish the pleasant memories growing out of our association here.

Invoking the blessings of Heaven upon our joint labors, and upon each individual Senator, I now sever my connection with you as Speaker of the Senate of North Carolina.

At the close of the Speaker's remarks he left the chair, and the Clerk announced that there being no Speaker, the Senate should proceed to elect.

Mr. Wiggins nominated Mr. Ferebee, and Mr. Arendell nominated Mr. Winstead.

Two ballotings were had with the following result each time:

The following voted for Mr. Perebee:

Messrs. Aycock, Covington, Cowper, Hall, Harris of Franklin, Howard, Keener, Leitch of Robeson, McCleese, McEachen, McKoy, McLean, Morehead, Pitchford, Shober, Stanford, Whitford, Wiggins, Williams, and Wilson.—20.

For Mr. Winstead,

Messrs. Arendell, Black, Blount, Bogle, Boner, Boyd, Bullock, Carter, Coward, Cowles, Donaho, Etheridge, Garner, Gash, Gorrell, Harris of Rutherford, Isbell, Jones of Wake, Morgan, Settle, Snead, Taylor—22.

For Mr. Shober.—Mr. Latham.

For Mr. Carter—Mr. Jones of Columbus.

For Mr. Wiggins.—Mr. Ferebee.

Several efforts were made to go into another election which failed.

On motion the Senate adjourned till 7½ o'clock P. M.

Leave of absence was granted Messrs. Mott, York, Hawes, Hoke and Hamilton.

The question recurring on the passage of the bill on its 2nd reading; the yeas and nays were ordered on motion of Mr. Henry.

The bill was again discussed at length upon its merits. Messrs. Smith of Hertford, McAden, Hutchison and Waugh, addressed the House in favor of the bill; Messrs. Caldwell and Henry opposed its passage. The bill passed its 2nd reading as follows:

A bill for the benefit of the Common Schools, was put on its reading.

Mr. Hutchison offered an amendment, which was offered on the second reading of the bill by Mr. Smith of Hertford, abolishing the office of Treasurer of the Literary Fund, and appropriating $50,000 from the Treasury for the benefit of the Schools, empowering the county court to lay taxes for the same purpose.

On motion of Mr. Cameron, the amendment was amended by striking out "fifty" and inserting "one hundred" before the word "thousand."

Mr. Harper moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed. The years and nays were ordered, and the House refused to postpone as follows:

WASHINGTON ITEMS.

(Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2, 1866.

The Admission of Southern Delegates---The Republican Majority would Like to Back Down---Finance---Combinations Against Contraction---Stevens Holds the Purse Strings.

It is stated, on well informed republican authority, that on Monday next the House will consider the subject of the admission of representatives from the State of Tennessee. This would show that the House cares nothing for the movements and decrees of the reconstruction committee. The House, by an overwhelming majority, has bound itself not to admit any member from any one of the lately rebellious States, without a declaration, on the part of both Houses, that such State is entitled to representation.

This resolution will probably be treated as a nulity whenever either House shall have a majority in favor of the admission of any State representation. The resolution itself nullifies a constitutional provision, and is therefore now and will be of no effect beyond the mere expression of party spleen against the President's policy. It is believed that the republican majority would willingly shun the necessity of concurring in the absurd and inoperative decree of the reconstruction committee if they could do so without lowering the standard of their party.

The necessity of restoration of the Union, as a preliminary step to national prosperity, is much urged by the President, but his radical visitors do not see it. The combination of interests against the McCulloch policy of a contraction of the currency and a gradual resumption of specie payments is becoming identical with opposition to the President's plan of reconstruction. Mr. Stevens is likely to control the financial as well as the political course of Congress. The supporters of the McCulloch financial scheme apparently shrink from competition with the Stevens bill. But the political and financial future of the country would be represented, and both are to be determined by this Congress, which so far knows no leader but Mr. Stevens.

It is doubted whether the bill reported on Wednesday by Mr. Morrill, patching up a Canadian reciprocity scheme, will be acceptable to the British Provinces. They seem contented to wait and bide their time, well knowing that the defunct treaty was as beneficial to the United States as to them. IOTA.

THE PRESIDENT'S POLICY TO BE ENFORCED.

Your readers may soon look for the enforcement of the President's policy. The first step will be the admission of the Senators and Representatives from Tennessee, which will take place in a few days. It is in vain, however that certain radical politicions cringe and fawn before the President. They will soon be dismissed. The President declared yesterday to the Maryland delegation, that the men in Congress who were now tryiug to change the form of government, and who were attempting to consolidate the powers of the government in the committee of Congress, were as wicked as those who tried to break up the government by making war upon it four years.—Wash. Cor. N. Y. News.

STATEMENT OF THE PURLIC DEBT.

The Secretary of the Treasury has just published his monthly statement of the public debt, which may be briefly summatized as follows: The present total debt bearing coin interest is $1,177,867,291.80; of the debt bearing currency interest, $1,185,428,980.50; of the matured debt not presented for payment, $985,979.64; of the debt bearing no interest, $463,586,767.52. Total, $3,827,868,959.46. Cash in Treasury is $116,018,958.24, and the debt less cash, $2,711,-850.22. This statement differs but little from that made the first of February.

The Texas Convention.

NEW ORLEANS, March 2.—In the Texas State Convention, a great majority of secessionists voted in favor of granting civil rights to the negro, allowing them here to testify, contract, and acquire and hold property.

THE FORGET-ME NOT.—"Grandmother," said little Gretchen, "why do you call this beautiful flower, blue as the sky, growing by this brook, 'forget-me-not?'"

"My child," said the grandmother, "I accompanied your father once, who was going a long journey, to this brook. He told me when I sag this little flower, I must think of him; and so we have always called it the 'forget-me-not.'"

Said happy little Gretchen, I have neither parents, nor sisters, nor friends, from whom I am parted. I do not know whom I can think of when I see the 'forget-me-not.'"

"I will tell you," said the grandmother, "some one of whom this flower may remind you—He who made it. Every flower in the meadow says, 'Remember God!' every flower in the garden and in the field says to us of its Creator, 'Forget-me-not.'"

DIED:

In this City, on Monday night Feb. 5th, JEANIE SPEAR, youngest daughter of Edward E. and Martha S. Harris, aged 8 years and two months.

The Funeral will take place from the Baptist Church at 3½ o'clock, Wednesday afternoon.

Friends and relatives of the Family are invited to attend.

In Chapel Hill, at the residence of her son in law, Prof. C. Phillips, on Friday night Feb. 23d 1866 Mrs MARY P. BATTLE, relict of the late Joel Battle, of Edgecombe county, in the 81st year of her age.

"DEAR OLD MRS. BATTLE!" will be the ejaculation of many a heart on reading the above announcement, for even in extreme old age and amid wasting illness this venerable lady retained the love and tender regard of many in every relation, and in every stage of life. Cheerful and sympathizing and interested to the last in all that was going on around her, her room and her bed-side were the centre of interest and the rallying point for her whole family. No event was complete until "Grandma" had heard it and made her comments Many a quaint old fashioned saying of hers has passed current in our circle, many an observation on men and things, the extreme and refreshing simplicity and naivete of which only enhanced its straight forwardness and shrewdness. Honesty, simplicity and kindness were the most prominent traits of her character, trained and sanctified by an habitual walk with God for nearly fifty four years. Fifty-four years ago [next summer] she joined the Baptist church in Edgecombe county, where she then resided, and where she reared a large family of children of whom the Hon. Wm. Battle was the oldest. Her warmest affections were always with the church of her choice, though that preference in no way interfered with her love for all christians of every name. Her religion partook of her eminently practical character,—her creed was simple, her faith was earnest—her works do follow her. The Biblical Recorder lay on her bed with her spectacles and her quaint little work basket and her knitting—for as long as they had the power, her hands retained the habit of a life time of thrifty industry, and her heart was going on to the church of God and its welfare. In her last days she spent much time in prayer for her country. Death came at the last not unexpectedly nor as an enemy. Her most most minute arrangements had long ago been completed, her grave clothes had been fashioned years ago with her own hands and the handkerchief that had bound her beloved husband's face thirty seven years before was folded, ready to do the same office for hers. And so our dear old friend fell as leep, saying "Jesus is with me," and nothing was left for us to do but close her wearied eyes and bear her to her rest.

"Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of His saints."

A Card.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I see by your paper that I have been attacked by the Senator from Beaufort county, for that part of my last report which relates to the Swamp Lands of the State. Your reporter does not mention the supposed errors referred to—and I do not know whether the facts of the report, or its suggestions are objected to.

As the subject is an important and difficult one, I desire to make a brief statement in regard to the reasons by which I was governed, and the authorities which I consulted, as well for the sake of the public interests involved as to vindicate my own reputation.

I have, for years, endeavored to obtain information in regard to our Swamp Lands; and when I was in the Legislature, I offered a resolution designed to have the whole matter thoroughly investigated, and better understood. From causes, I need not mention, the purpose of the movement was not carried out; and increasing observation has but confirmed me in the opinion, that the State ought to know exactly what are its interests in the premises, where they are located, and what is their condition.

It has seemed to me that there ought to be a registry and description of all the lands of the kind referred to; and all my enquiries have satisfied me that without a general survey, we could have but an imperfect knowledge of the value of this part of the assets of the Literary Fund. Hence my uniform effort has been to have light thrown on this subject, to promote more thorough and general examination in order to know what we own, and what it is worth; nor have I ever pretended to accurate information in myself, or that the authorities having supervision of the matter could, under the existing system, accomplish what was desired.

Here was a public interest in regard to the extent of which our best informed men greatly differed in opinion, and which, under existing arrangements, could be better understood; and seeing this, my desire and the end of my efforts were to use proper exertions to know really what we owned. If this was an error or a crime, I do not expect ever to be able to see it, and therefore, cannot be sorry for it.

As already stated, I have not claimed to be well informed as to the extent or value of the Swamp Lands; and feeling my ignorance in regard to a matter that I wished to understand, I availed myself of every source of information within my reach. I have conversed with men of all classes from eastern North Carolina, have consulted with those who have acted as presidents of the Literary Board for the last twenty-five years, and have examined such reports of engineers and maps as could be found.

From such authorities I gleaned the facts on which I ventured, merely to guess the extent of the public lands; and if I have erred in this calculation it only indicates the necessity of the general examination which I have long desired.

I did not pretend to be wise above those whose official business it was to know more of this subject than I did; and in my calculations, I felt it to be a duty to respect their opinions, and especially their official statements of facts.

In an official publication of the Literary Board made in 1849, before I went into office, it is stated that the swamp lands belonging to the Literary Board are estimated at 1,500,000 acres; and this estimate is probably based upon a report made to the Board of internal Improvement, by Mr. A Nash, in the year 1827. Mr. Nash examined and described various bodies of swamp lands, and says: "We may estimate the whole number of acres, both of tenanted and vacant land, at one million five hundred thousand acres."

The tracts which Mr. Nash actually examined, and which are mentioned in his report, are those examined by Mr. Brazier, in the same year, contain by their calculations about 600,000 acres. My estimate—and it was but a suggestion—was the mean between the 1,500,000 acres which the Literary Board officially claimed in the year 1849, and the amount which I found actually described by engineers—that is one million of acres. The official authorities are my only basis of calculation; and if I had known that any gentleman in the State had actually surveyed all our lands, and could tell me more than what I could find written, I most gladly would have consulted him.

As to the value of the lands in question, my authorities, outside of personal observation of the great resources of Eastern N. C., were a great number of persons, in the regions referred to, consulted for years, the reports of such engineers as Nash, Brazier, Fulton, Gwyn, ex-Gov. Morehead, who gave special and patriotic attention to this matter, other gentlemen of the highest character and patriotism, who have filled the executive office. The reports of Prof. Emmons, State Geologist, and opinions given me by county surveyors, and many other intelligent and practical farmers.—In my views in this matter, as in those in regard to the extent of the lands, I have tried to reflect the fair average or mean of all the opinions given.

In regard to the amount which ought to be asked for this whole interest, I have felt that it was unsafe to offer an opinion, for the views of men as well informed in the matter as any of us, range from five millions to one hundred thousand dollars.

And finally, in view of all our past experience, that there were so many conflicting opinions in regard to the lands—that they had, so far, yielded so little to the treasury of the Literary Fund—that those who managed the lands needed light which they could not obtain under existing arrangements—that a State, in this enlightened age, owned an interest the extent and value of which were matters of doubt and dispute among her wisest men—that the State was greatly interested in the settlement and improvement of these lands, and the Literary Fund was needing all its resources—and that no harm could result and good might follow rom an attempt to dispose of the lands, and that I was sustained in those views by the most eminent civil engineer of the South, one who had superintended the drainage of part of the lands in question, I ventured to make the recommendations mentioned in my report.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

Are the most perfect purgative which we are able to produce, or which we think has ever yet been made by any body. Their effects have abundantly shown to the community how much they excel the ordinary medicines in use. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart a healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and, being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief, were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character, as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliabilities of our remedies, while others have sent us the assurance of their conviction that our Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of our afflicted, suffering fellow men.

The Agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis our American Almanac, containing directions for the use, and certificates of their cures, of the following complaints:

Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from foul stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid Inaction of the bowels and pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Diseases which require an evacuant medicine. They also, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system, cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach, such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout, and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other preparations which they make more profit on. Demand AYER'S and take no other's. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.

These inventions stand approved as the "best" by the most eminent Scientific and Surgical Societies of the world, the inventor having been honored with the award of FIFTY GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS (or "First Prizes") including the Great Medals of the World's Exhibition in London and New York; also the most Honorary Report of the great Society of Surgeons of Paris, giving his Patents place above the ENGLISH AND FRENCH.

Dr. Palmer gives personal attention to the business of his profession, aided by men of the best qualifications and greatest experience. He is specially commissioned by the Government, and has the patronage of the prominent Officers of the Army and Navy. LIFE INSURANCE NOTICE.

THE old and well established

Ætna Company, of Hartford,

Offers superior inducements to all who wish to provide for family or friends.

All losses are promptly paid. N case of litigation has ever occurred with this Company. With assetts of $2,300,000, it offers to receive one half of the premium in a note and half in cash, and, after the second year to credit each customer with the dividends of the Company, which are now 50 per cent. With a small outlay, $5000, or $10,000, or $20,000, may be secured to the family after their earthly providers are taken away. What father or husband would not feel thankful on his dying couch, that he had availed himself of every proper means to place those nearest and dearest to him, above the probings of want, and a life of dependence upon friends or charity? 8 819 policies have been issued from the office ending Jan. 15 1866. The total income for the year 1865 was $1,683,339 57; total disbursements $527 805 24, leaving a balance to surplus fund of $1,155 244 33.

In Raleigh a large number have liberally responded and promptly acted in this matter; yet many delay, and may wait until it is too late. A man in this city lately left his place of business for his evening meal, well and healthy, but never reached that home except as he was carried there to die. Had that man taken the advice of the Agent, he might have left $5000 to minister to the necessities of a sorrowing family. Delays are dangerous, procrastination destructive. But one says, "If I only had confidence in the Company that it would pay, I would insure." Well, it never has failed to pay, and to-day is more responsible than ever before. It is patronized by some of the most sagacious minds in the land—men competent to detect and expose any deception if it existed.

BAUGH'S RAW BONE

Super-Phosphate of Lime.

BAUGH & SON'S,

MANUFACTURERS AND PROPRIETORS,

Store No. 20 South Delaware Avenue,

THIS valuable Manure has been before the agricultural public, under one name for twelve years past, and its character for vigor of action and permanence in effect is well established. Before the war, it was introduced, to some extent, in the Southern States, and was found to be highly adapted to Cotton, Tobacco, and all Crops.

In its action, it is as quick as Peruvian Guano, while it does not leave the land in an exhausted state, but on the other hand permanently improves it. This has been fully proven by years of trial.

OLD NORTH STATE.

"The Old North State Forever."

THE undersigned will commence the publication of a Daily and Weekly Newspaper, bearing the above title, in the city of Salisbury about the 10th of March next.

The Old North State will be, under our control, a firm and decided Union paper. But while it will be firm and decided in its support of the Union, and of all just and necessary measures tending to its complete restoration, it will yet be liberal and conservative. It will oppose radicalism from whatever quarter it may come. Confiding in the loyal intentions of the great body of the people of North Carolina, it will endeavor to soothe the asperities of the past by promoting among them a spirit of reconciliation and harmony.

Rejecting the exploded dogma of paramount State sovereignty, it will cheerfully support the National government in the exercise of every power necessary to the maintenance of its rightful authority, while it will ever contend against any encroachments upon the reserved rights of the States.

It will discuss all the various political issues of the day, but in doing this it will seek to avoid everything like partizan bitterness or personal vituperation. It will also strive to avoid that detestable practice, so common among politicians, of pandering to the passions and appealing to the prejudices of the multitude in order to accomplish partizan ends. It will endeavor to enlighten and direct aright public sentiment, by disseminating correct information, and by arguments addressed to the understanding—in short it will endeavor to erect a high standard of political morality.

Its columns will be open for Political, Moral, Literary and Agricultural articles especially, and to the advertising public.

The Old North State will be printed on new type on the following

THE LOYALIST.

THE undersigned propose to publish in Louisburg, North Carolina, a newspaper under the above denomination, The LOYALIST, as its name imports, will yield a firm, uniform, and fearless support to the Constitution of the United States, and all laws enacted in pursuance of that great instrument. To the decisions of the Supreme Court of the nation, in such questions as originate in the interpretation or application of the principles involved in our federal jurisprudence or policy, the Loyalist will accord its unqualified acquiescence, as to the will of the American people, duly expressed through the only legitimate, determinate and competent medium. Its general politics will be those so long and so thoroughly taught by the patriotism, the eloquence, and the wisdom of CLAY, and his departed compeers, and so fearfully vindicated by the present melancholy and helpless condition of the communities so recently arrayed in arms against the integrity and harmony of our national union.

The Loyalist would make the institutions and independence, the material and moral dignity of the nation, as enduring and as brilliant as the stars whose images adorn the field and the folds of its flag. The Loyalist will also dedicate its energies and exert its abilities to ascertain and cherish the interests, as well as to develope the immense resources of North Carolina. To the cause of education, the general diffusion of knowledge, the elevation of the masses, and the religious culture of all within its influence, it will be a consistent and inflexible friend. Its editorial department will be conducted by gentlemen whose names will be announced in due time.

The LOYALIST will be issued weekly, carefully printed, of the size of the Raleigh "Daily Sentinel," and furnished to patrons at $3 00 per annum, payable on delivery of the first number. Subscriptions and communications respectfully solicited.
